

MINISTRY TEAMS

The Operations Team helps City Church participate in Christ's renewing work by leading us to faithfully steward the resources God has provided to us. Much of the operations team's work will be behind the scenes, creating and maintaining systems, structures, and processes to wisely deploy our human, financial, and material resources for ministry. The Operations Team will also work closely with the executive pastor to assist him in his role of overseeing the entire ministry team structure and leading the staff.

The Membership Team helps City Church participate in Christ's renewing work by facilitating both practical & spiritual care for other members of City Church, connecting members who have resources with members who have needs - whether it be meals, encouragement, accountability, fellowship, temporary childcare, etc. Although this is what we are all called to do in our Covenant together, the people on the Membership Team are expressly thinking about how to help each member live out the Covenant well - building structure, opportunities, and means.

The Hospitality Team participates in Christ's renewing work by caring for and welcoming our neighbors. They will help City Church members meet, understand, and befriend those who are outside the faith (co-workers, acquaintances), those who are hurting (the poor, the lonely), or who don't have access to the Church (through city & global partners, new ministries and church plants).

The Teaching Team at City Church participates in Christ's renewing work by providing instruction that is aimed at equipping us for every good work. This includes the regular preaching ministry of the church, addressing pressing cultural issues, equipping members in practical faithful living, and participating in the public square.

The Creative Team participates in Christ renewing work by engaging imagination to serve one another and our neighbors. They labor toward fresh expressions of the historic faith in Sunday liturgies and storytelling.

The Student Team helps City Church participate in Christ's renewing work by creating and leading ministry opportunities designed specifically to engage our students from birth through college during this unique season of life. This includes teaching and discipling members who are students as well as serving and reaching students who are not yet believers.
